Standing beside the Royal Electric Typewriter, Sister Agnesene is explaining the new devices to William Dietz and Mary Ann Mulcahey, Christine Smith is proof-reading a stencil which has been expertly typed on the electric machine. The Business department is also equipped with a new electric mimeograph machine.

Typing Classes

"I wish I could type!" This skill is possessed, or desired, by almost every educated person. In former years, only girls entered the typing and shorthand classes. Today, almost every high school boy takes one or more typing courses. Today, also, the electric typewriter is used, even in beginning classes. Trinity purchased its first electric typewriter last November.

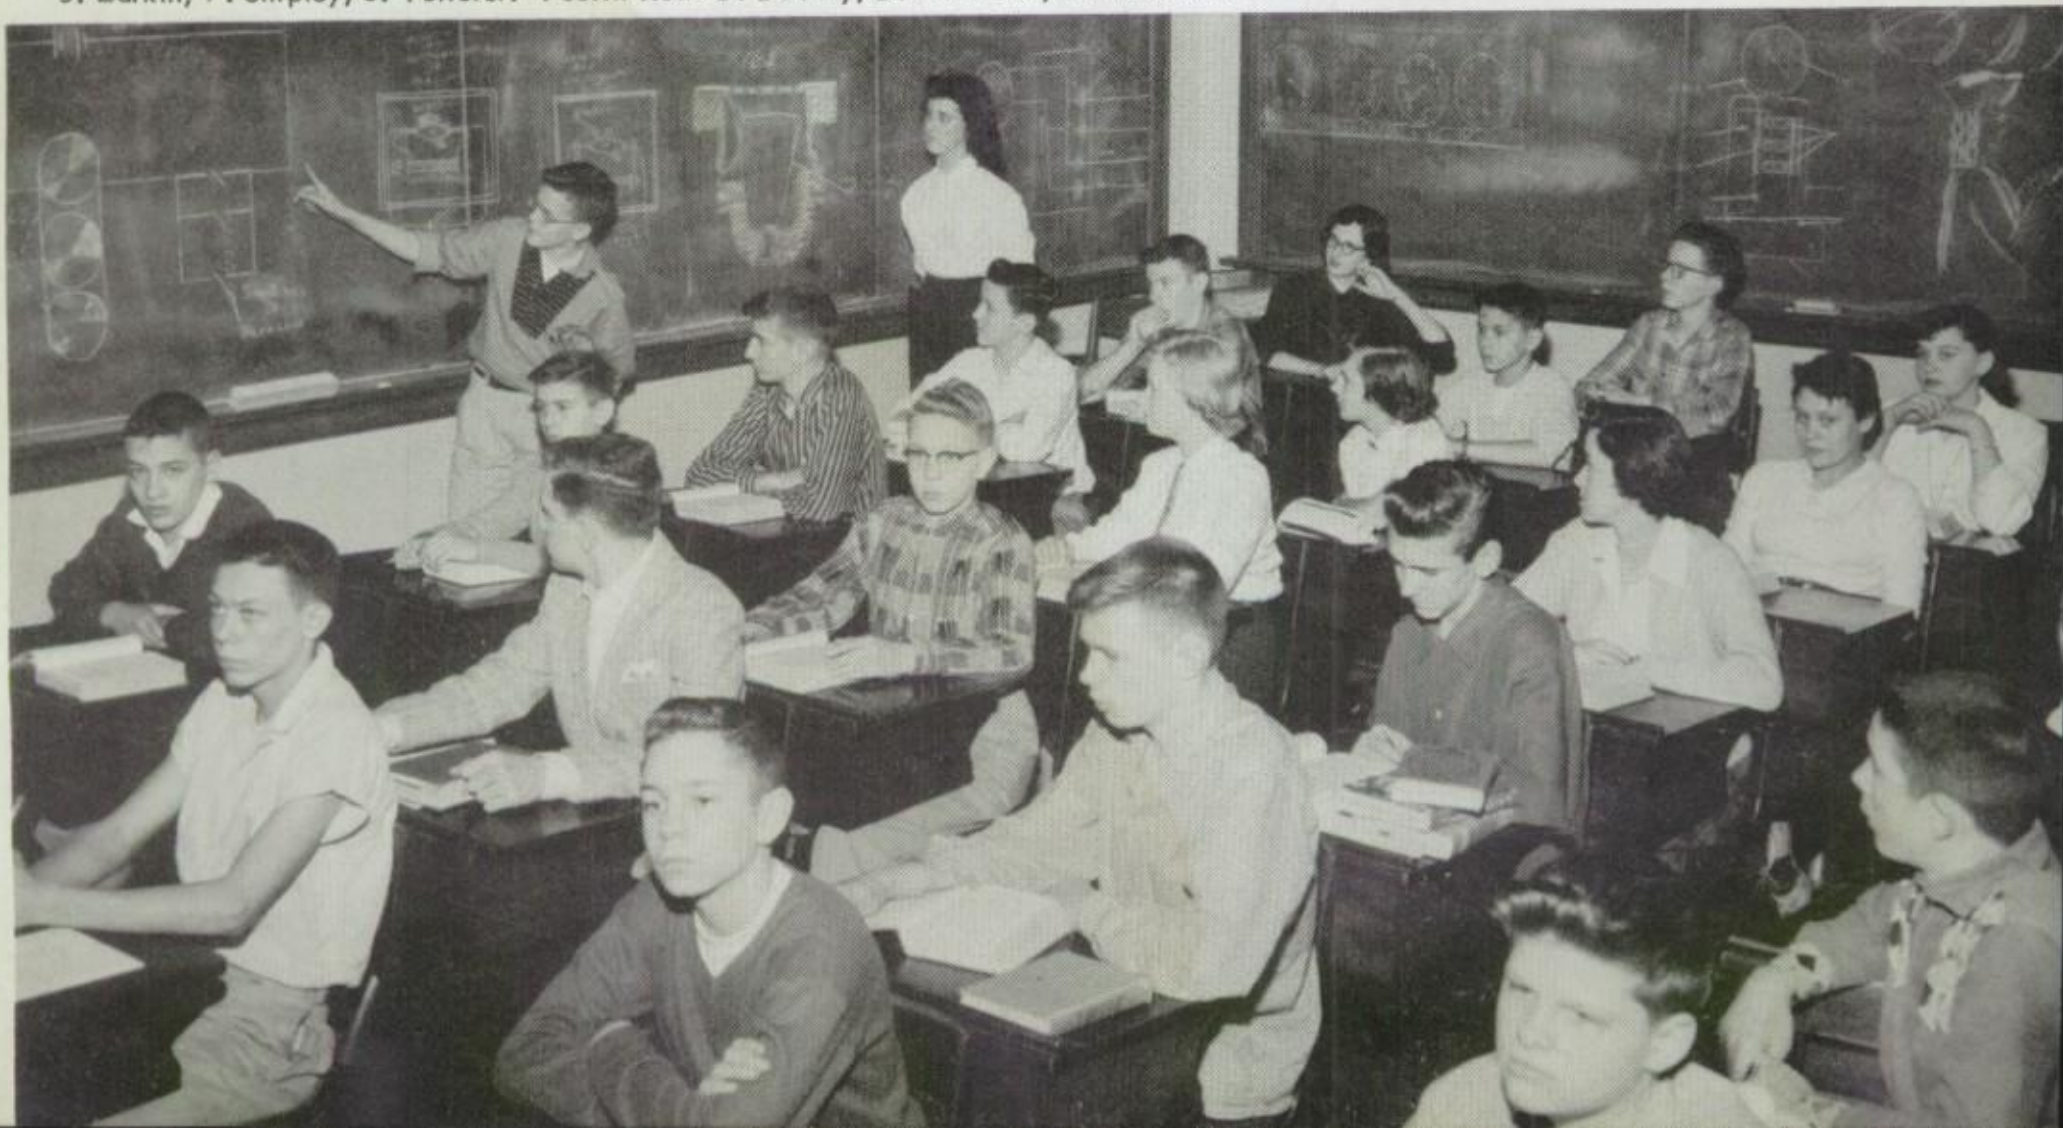

In this picture, Judy Harris, seated at the executive's desk, is using her shorthand ability to take dictation from Thomas Michael who portrays the executive. Students are typing actual business letters. In the background is a bulletin board, decorated by Colleen Cushing, which depicts some of the essential qualities an executive and his secretary should possess.

Foreword

The Trinitas annuals have been marked by the names of many great athletes throughout the past decades. Names such as Conroy, Sweeney, DeNardo, and Gremer and many others, stand as monuments reminding us of sportsmanship, integrity, and the desire to play the game straight. Therefore, we wish to dedicate these following pages, not only to our present athletes, but also to their predecessors who paved the way, and upheld the name of the TRINITY SAINTS.

Ready, Set, Hike

Inspired by a great coach, and paced by hard blocking, tackling and running, the Saints vanquished their opponents to capture another Intercity Championship. In doing so, they rolled into their fifth consecutive winning season.

Hampered by inexperience and injuries, the Saints dropped their first two encounters. It looked as though the dark clouds of gloom were moving in. Then on September 27, Cinderella went to the ball and the Saints scooted into an upset victory over a tough ST. THERESA Gridiron eleven. This explosion caused a chain reaction which elevated Trinity over such elevens as: B.H. S., Clinton, and U. High. The stage was set for Homecoming and the big question was "could the SAINTS overcome the powerful Ironmen of N.C.H. S." The night was cold and the Ironmen were tough, but they proved no match for the inspired pack of warriors from T.H.S. The cry was "veni, vidi, vici," and the score was 13-6. WE WON!

But as in Cinderella, the clock struck twelve and with it our gridiron warriors dropped their last start of the season to a great Cathedral eleven in a hard well-fought battle. However, this season will go down in the history books as a great winning season - one of which we can truly be proud.

Hard Wood High Lights

Supercharged by the inspirations of Coach Keegan's basketball philosophy, the Saints pivoted through another fine basketball season.

The first two opponents to attack the Irish, (St. Paul and Clinton) were abruptly relinquished from the winning column as the Saints displayed their talent in the most convincing manner. By the time the Christmas cheer had been distributed, these basketball salesmen had tacked up a 3-2 mark on the tally sheet.

The New Year brought another notch in the gun with a speedy Washington quintet (63-61). Our hardwood sharpshooters had finally taken the top of the heap during the big conference shuffle. After a set back by Pontiac (54-46), the Saints re-enacted "Tom Sawyer" by putting a coat of white-wash on N.C.H.S's conference bid in a (53-51) upset victory.

"And then the rains came." Hampered by injuries, the strong forward wall of our basketekers was broken and defeat was met (four to be exact).

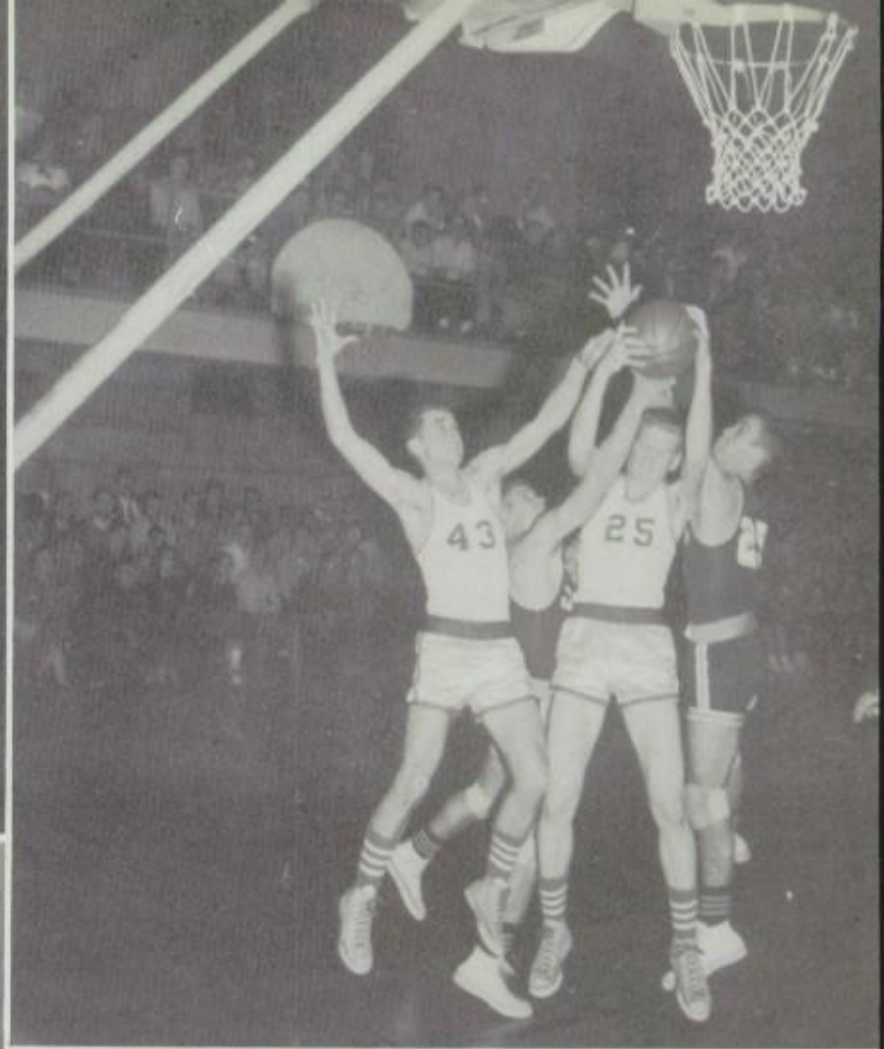

What was lacking in physical abilities was made up for by a strong desire, and a strong liniment. It was practice, practice, practice and more practice. By defeating U. Hi. (54-53) the Saints came forth in the home stretch to finish a strong second in the Cornbelt Conference.

The coach makes the player, the players make the team, and the team makes the people proud of it. The Trinity Saints fulfilled all three of these objectives one hundred per cent. Our thanks to them for a job well done.

Congratulations to Bill Weigmen, All Conference Guard. Bill was the leading high scorer in the Cornbelt Conference this year.

"Play Ball"

In the local pool hall, soda fountain, and any teen-age gathering one can overhear that familiar American slang pertaining to the great American pastime of Baseball. This is the first sign of spring.

Last year's squad won both the Cornbelt and Intercity titles. And then fired on to make a clean sweep of the District Tournament. This year's squad is still more experienced and should prove to be quite an eye-catcher in the upcoming weeks.

Paced by many returning lettermen, who have already found a new general manager, Coach Keegan, the outlook for the coming season is very bright. With a little bit of the right ingredients, the Saints should hit their way into another great season.

Cinder Sweepers

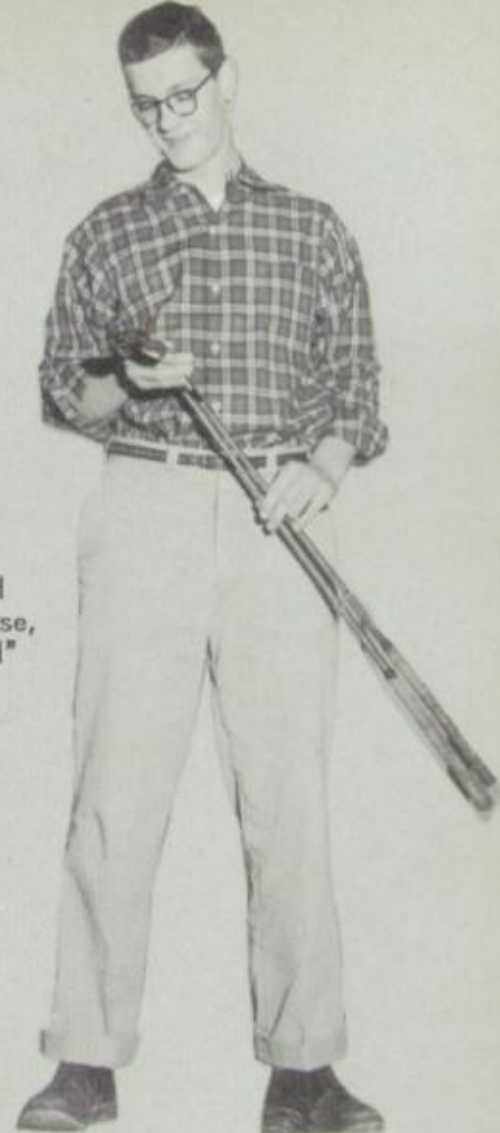

It's back to the cinders and shotput as the spring tide rolls in and the frosty whiskers of old man winter diminish into the clear blue sky. From this mass of long dangling arms and hairy legs, may develop another WES SANTEE or PERRY O'BRIAN. Although it is impossible to foresee the future, we believe that the Trinity tracksters will prove to be in strong contention for that coveted crown of the Corn Belt Conference.

This year's members of our cinder squad are all well developed in the sprints, distances, and weights. Four lettermen are returning to offer their services to our new Trinity mentor, Coach Egosfki. With a little heat under the kettle, things should get pretty hot as the cinder sweepers swing into action this season.

ACTIVITIES

Honor Society

The Honor Society is what its name indicates - an honorary society. Membership each year consists of 15% of the seniors and 5% of the juniors. A double election is held each year - the first at the end of the first semester when the 5% from the previous year and faculty select 10% more of the senior class, and the second at the end of the school year when 5% of the juniors are chosen. Bases for the voting are: scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

DAR - Nancy Fortier; SAR - Terrance Weber; Betty Crocker - Jean Hundman.

Student Council

The aim of the Student Council is to promote better understanding between faculty and the student body. Each year it sponsors and directs student council and class elections.

Its main project this year was the reorganization of the constitution.

Other activities were: Box Lunch Social, Ice Cream and Candy Sales, Honor Day Awards and Dance Decorations Committee for the Intercity Dance.

STUDENT COUNCIL: First Row: H. Cvengros, N. Fortier, J. Mikel - President, N. Killoran - Secretary, R. Hundman - Vice-President, L. Forbes - Treasurer, P. Hirst, B. Okell. Second Row: P. Van Hook, M. The main purpose of the Sodality of our Lady is to increase devotion to Mary. This is achieved by personal sanctification and practicing acts of virtue toward our neighbor. Members must fulfill certain requirements of daily devotion to Mary. There is a probation period of two months. The Sodality was reactivated this year and the members were formally received into the Sodality on March 5, 1957.

Officers and members are:

Prefect - - - - - Sue Schmitz

Trinity High School Book Fair

Trinity High School's Book Fair was held during National Catholic Book Week, February 17-23, 1957. The books exhibited included all types of reading from cook-books to cartoon books, fancy volumes to paper backs, classics, universal favorites to best sellers, religious to secular.

More than one thousand books ordered from New York and Chicago were on display. Posters were distributed throughout Bloomington and Normal.

Since the Book Fair, Trinity's High School Library has added over two hundred new books in both the fiction and non-fiction areas.

Are those strains of celestial music? Is that Orion, or the Twins, or the Great Bear glittering overhead? The constellations were delicately suggested in the portrayal of the theme, "My Blue Heaven" for the Junior-Senior Prom, held in the gymnasium on May 17. Gary Wilson and his six-piece orchestra provided the harmonious music.

A new spangled material decorated the long side walls and the back wall. Multi-pointed stars (not the conventional five-pointed ones) depicted Sirius, Spica, Betelgeus, Rigel, Altair and other first-magnitude stars.

Near the west wall, a golden crown surmounted six white pillars which encircled the imperial throne prepared for the senior king and queen. The artists took liberties with the presentation of the Constellations, the Eagle and the Virgin. The latter Constellation was used for the customary crowning ceremony during the Grand March.

Janice Whalen, vice-president, was General Chairman. She was assisted by her Junior classmates. Chairmen of the Committees were:

Senior Class Play

STARDUST concerns the plight of a famous actress who visited a university and found it a madhouse of art. She had no idea how to cope with the over-arty students, and they were taken aback to learn that she had no time for their method of acting. To make matters worse for the actress, she had a personal problem that roughly paralleled that of two of the young students. The way in which she solved her problem, and thus, that of the other young couple, and the uproarious yet valuable lesson she taught the dramatics students, made this a delightful and entertaining production.

Class Prophecy of 1957

In the course of time there have always been certain individuals or groups of people that would seem to stand out in work and activities. You will now read about such a group.

Before commencing though, the reader must understand that every name written here will not reach its goal. It is not the individual who will stand out, but the group itself.

The class will feel a great loss when John Van Hook leaves for the Foreign Legion, also when Don Dearth takes leave of this pagan world to become a priest.

In the sports world you will hear of Mike Gremer as coach who will lead his fighting eleven to victories. A pro basketball player, Tom Guttschow will be trotting past the T.V. cameras. Pat Berberet will be the future wife of a great pro football player Jim Kane whose training ground is Notre Dame.

Tony Wheeler, European war correspondent, will be heard nationally by the public thru news commentators. Dave Murphy covers all three networks, public relations counsel for T.V. stars.

The entertainment world will be having such greats as Gary Walters, Flea Circus, Mary Lu Lasky, rising young actress, will be four time winner of the Oscar. Karen Doyle, a quick-witted comedienne, will be rolling them in the aisles. The latest jitterbug styles, will be demonstrated by Bill Weigman at the Bill's Bop Palace.

One who will hit the headlines quite frequently will be John Lanham as head of a gambling syndicate; Barbara Lafferty will be instructing young women in the principles of Home Economics; and Jim Shipley, who has always been very patriotic, will be endangering his life as "communist" for the F.B.I.

An oil tycoon, Ron Hundman will take his claims in Texas; and Dave Wochner will eventually take over as president of the Federal Reserve Bank.

Clare Cleary and Mary Ann Irvin will be going into nursing. George McNeely, with a weakness for the animal kingdom, will take the "Hippocratic" oath into the veterinary world. Karen Malcom will have her own school of nursing. And at his own hospital young Doctor Kilmartin will work the miracles of medicine with Judy Custer as his superintendent of nurses.

The growth of science will increase rapidly with the aid of Nancy Fortier, a medical technologist. Terry Weber will devote his life to atomic energy.

Rose Hardwick has decided to enter a cloistered convent. As an airline stewardess, Nancy Killoran will keep the passengers comfortable while Jim Mikel pilots the transport. Flo Hoeniges and Mike Walsh will have their hands full supporting their orphanage besides their own family. As a first-class architect, Marvin Wannamacher will be world-famous.

In a few years, Andy Fiore, will be using his engineering techniques to construct an atomic energy plant. Janet Otto will be literally starving herself through her career of modeling. Bill Bartlett will put his honesty to work as a used car dealer, and Pat Hirst will be the private secretary of that able psychiatrist, Wesley Auth.

For the women who need aid in attracting the opposite sex, Rita Englejohn will work wonders on their tresses. As a beauty consultant, Geri Hagerty will transform you into a completely different personality. And Beverly Roach will be turning out the latest Parisian styles. For anyone having trouble with their diet, Leo Forbes a professional dietician will be able to advise you. Keith Arteman will wind up as the pitcher for the Chicago Cubs. Jo Conroy will know how to keep his customers happy with a chain of taverns from here to Chicago and back again. Barbara Comte of the New York Symphony Orchestra, will entertain you with her tuba playing.

Margie Walsh will be giving parties for the Army brass for the benefit of her husband General Veselak. John Shea gossip columnist, will be bringing you the latest scoops on celebrities. Jean Hundman as a journalist will set her literary ability to work.

Carl Graf will be an independent farmer. Helen Cvangros will go to Chicago to become a commercial artist. Dave Welch, aeronautics engineer, will make air travel safer and more predominant. Because of her love of nature and the outdoors Mary Squires will be a Scout Master for the Girl Scouts. Another lover of the soil will be Ronald Sutton, who will get his advice on farming from Bernard Feist, the Corn Belt Agricultural Advisor.

Jim Bowling will go into business for the cigarette industry, manufacturing the mildest, best tasting, cigarettes on the market. Joanne Morrissey will devote her time and study to being a bird watcher. Anyone with a troubled heart will be able to turn to Faye Dehart for good advice and consultation.

If you're one who is looking for excitement you will want to watch Bob Pepper in the stock car races. Jerry Arteman will endanger his life on the plains of Africa as a lion hunter.

As a private secretary Nellie Squires will be employed by Joe Ping, a private "eye".

Nancy Totterer will be interpreting important matters of state. Tom Kasher will demonstrate his political ability as a Democratic Senator.

Sally Mueller, always generous with the less fortunate, will be mastering the drums for the Salvation Army. Barbara Okell is planning to be an archeologist. And Sherrilyn Halihan will be a gym teacher.

Bill Wetzel will astound millions with his accurate shots on the green as a pro golfer. Norma Rayburn will transform your homes into extravagant palaces of modern living with her latest innovations in interior decorating. As a photographers model, Karin Walters will be seen in all the magazine advertisements. And as the nation's future top singer, Jane Seright will entertain with her well-developed vocal chords. Pat Holtz, a police matron, may be seen at Alcatraz. And last but not least, Tom Dennis will be giving voice lessons to future "E.P." 's. Carl Segobiano, as business manager of W.B.L.N.-T.V., will be the first to turn it into a multi-million dollar network.

Thus ends our prologue of the future. As the reader, though, you must remember that this group, in every field of work, will attempt to make this world a better one in which to live.
